This set is inspired by the Mac OS X10.7's system icon for "Close Window" icon that consists of two parts: a larger, outer square and a smaller, inner box. Each part contains 5 different icons: - Part 1. The outer square has four possible variations. This part is the simplest one and represents a simple and open window in a different environment. - Part 2. The inner box contains five different variations, 3 of them use the box as a place for an icon and 2 with an empty box. The first box icon represents a "blank" interface, so it's easy to use the icon to replace a default system icon without the need to write a long text description. - Part 3. This icon represents a box of some kind, with one color scheme with rounded corners and a transparent background. The two icons that use the box have a gradients colored backgrounds. One of them has a slightly rounded corners. - Part 4. This is the "Close Window" icon in the Mac OS X10.7 system icon. The icon is contained in an inner box, with a different color scheme than the other part. - Part 5. The most different one, this icon has the same colored scheme as the rest. It's a magnifying glass icon that points to an icon.
